Over the years I have worked with many people on a variety of projects. My proudest of those was the year I spent with the incredible Andrea Zonn, producing the Hands Across the Water project in Nashville Tennessee. On that project I got to work with some of the best known and most talented people there are in music all over the world and for a really good cause.

But I am also worked on so many other areas in music that have included,

Tour Manager for Altan in the USA

Photographer at various festivals and concerts. Picture credits have included websites, magazines and promotional materials for festivals.

Writer for many publications from the Irish News in London to the Derry Journal in Northern Ireland.

Consultant to various bands, record companies and festivals organizers and other events

Songwriter, musician, producer, broadcaster and various other projects can be added to the list.

I am currently working with some cool people on a huge prjetc for a town in Alabama and I will release details of this exciting venture very soon.
